His Life Reflections

Robert Edward Moore Sr., known to many as Bobby, was born on May 9, 1949, in Cincinnati, Ohio to the late Willie Frank and Laura Frances Moore. He was the third child of eight children and a blessing to his family and friends.

While attending a worship service held at Peace Baptist Church, God drew Bobby unto Him. In response, Bobby accepted Jesus as Lord and Savior. The Word of God tells followers of Jesus to “let your light shine before others...” Matthew 5:14-16. Bobby has done this by caring, sharing and giving of himself, his talents and his love for others. He has opened his heart and helped people in need. His light shined brightly with his love. Bobby was a gift of joy from birth and throughout his 76 years of life. He has been known to say, “God got me”. We find comfort in knowing that Bobby has eternal life with Jesus!

In addition to attending the Cincinnati Public Schools, Bobby served in the Marine Corps from May 5, 1969, to November 10, 1971. He represented the United States of America. He was a veteran of the Vietnam war. He stood in harms way to protect the USA including his brothers who fought alongside him. During this time, Bobby received the Good Conduct Medal (GCM). He was discharged under honorable conditions. His actions in combat and daily life were guided by the core values of the U.S. Marine Corps which are honor, courage and commitment. Hospice of Cincinnati presented Bobby with a certificate of appreciation for his service and sacrifice.

Bobby had a stable work history. His last employment was as a Custodian for the Cincinnati Public Schools (CPS) Board of Education. He worked for CPS until he was granted total disability. One memorable act of kindness provided by Bobby while employed by CPS is that he opened the gym doors to allow young men from the community to come in and play basketball. On occasion, he extended their time to play. Bobby enjoyed seeing others have fun.

Bobby was fascinated by watching popular classic movies repeatedly. He was skilled at making copies of movies and sharing DVDs with others. He also enjoyed watching sports on his big screen TV. He and his friend competed for which of them would have the biggest screen TV.

He was a Bengals fan who proudly dressed in Bengals attire. If he wasn't watching TV, he would be listening to R&B music. Bobby also liked playing cards with family and friends. Growing up Bobby had a heart for music. He participated in group singing sessions held in his Mom's living room. He also encouraged his younger siblings and other relatives to do dance performances. He sometimes joined them in the dance routines. Some of his favorite throwback songs were “Track Of My Tears” by Smokey Robinson, “Let's Get It On” by Marvin Gaye, “Back Stabbers” by The O'Jays, and “My Girl” by The Temptations. He played these and many more R&B classics so often that now his children and grandchildren can sing the songs.

Bobby cherished being with his family and friends. He made everyone feel right at home. He had a beautiful spirit that brought people together. He often had barbeques in his backyard that were fun for all who attended. One of his outings was a disco themed event where Bobby showed his adventurous nature by wearing a red velvet pant suit trimmed in leopard and a matching hat. When at family events, Bobby would challenge his children to dance with him. He was known for breaking it down. His sons-in-law and daughters-in-law were his children too. They were not excluded from the dance challenges. Bobby watched over his oldest brother's children as though they were his own. As a member of his family, you were subject to being given a nickname by Bobby. The most common one was “Big Head”. Bobby was excited when playing with his grandchildren and great grandchildren. Even when he was not feeling his greatest, he found the strength to talk baby talk with his youngest great grandson and lift his fist to him for a touch of affection. They were both smiling at each other. Bobby had a spirit of love, fighting and perseverance which is also found in his family.

Bobby was loved, appreciated and admired by many. His best attributes were provided in a letter from the Ohio Senate. It was prepared by the State Senator Catherine D. Ingram and sent in honor his 75th birthday. The letter read as follows: “On the occasion of your 75th birthday we celebrate your incredible journey and this milestone. As we reflect on the years that have passed, we are reminded of the countless memories you have created, the challenges you have overcome, and the joy you have brought to others. Your wisdom and guidance have undoubtedly touched the lives of many. Your presence has been a source of inspiration and comfort to those who have left an indelible (everlasting) mark on the hearts of your loved ones. Thus, with genuine pleasure, we extend our warmest wishes for a joyous birthday celebration. May this special day be filled with happiness, surrounded by loved ones who appreciate and admire you. As an outstanding Ohioan, you are an inspiration to us all.”
